Saturday, January 27, 1917

Mr. Hall will transact business at the New York World Building in the city of New York, N. Y., on the 27th of January, 1917.

After we get good results as we usually will, the people will wonder how we ever got along without them.

The people of this county are not jumping at the job of county commission like they might be expected.

Any new departure from the old beaten path will cause the people to be called up short and fools but when the new way is tried out and proven better than the old, the other way will come in for part of the share.

When you come to think about it, it is a wonder how often Col. Harvey and Col. Watterston have to do with politics, and a candidate for president.

So far Harvey has had but little to say about the kind of man his people would like to represent. He is putting up a good deal of that opposing Prof. Wilson.

With the phlegmatically there is a possibility of the least popular man getting in if you hadn't thought about it, but we suppose that is fair.

Miss Olson of Chicago is suing a man by the name of Weller for a breach of promise suit and just whether he will be when after the suit for $50,000 damage is filed or not, remains to be seen. She claims that he proposed to her five times. It looked like he was about as ready to make promises that he never kept as old Phineas.

This town has certainly been electing its mayor and council men twenty-five years, but at no time has it ever had out so many candidates for city office. One reason is we have two candidates from each ward now, whereas we once had but one. That doubles them up and the people are more in earnest now in running than they have ever been. Naturally if things go on we are liable to have dozens and we think that will be surprising.

People are beginning to get us again when the all men is coming. We don't know. For him to give us value return for the money we are to give him is most right and then give us advertising. Then we can take no chances on him even after he has been drunk coming this way for the road is in bad shape and he might slip up in the mud or burst and hurt his horse and a taxightdown stamp for we have the stamps down here and he will have to learn to judge them.

NO SPRING POETRY

I am old saying, with the news paper folk that spring brings out poets. But during the years experience we have had mighty little poetry springs up with the appearance of the dog, wood blowings. Some poetry is on the market of course all through the year and some is offered with a view to it to be published with no view of it, unless it is a steady stream of poetry and we don't have that spring poetry but only more than it does the groundhog, in midwinter of this season know his little of.

We have never turned down a spring poem but have found it an effort to get out. We are afraid of any of it, and cannot afford to take chances.

COSTLY FAITH
This section of the state takes enough good things and crops a much noise to have a first class county fair next fall. And if some one will make up the list and carry it in the paper, expending enough to be offered to make the boys of this county jump.

One price should be given the boy who made the most money on an acre of land planted and cultivated in anything he wants. Another prize should go to the boy who made the most money on more than one acre, his choice crop say. Then a prize for each and one for cotton. One for tomatoes. Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, pumpkins and other fruit.

Get a good list of attractive prizes and set them up soon. The folks will back the team for a job here about the first of November next, and we will not have to send out people to other towns to spend their money. The merchants will be benefited as all other classes of business will.

"Cures in Every Case"
Mr. James McCallum, Manager of the Schiller Hotel, Omaha, Neb., recommends Foley's Kidney and Bladder Pills because it cures in every case. I have used it myself and I have recommended it to many others who have since told me of its great curative power in diseases of the throat and lungs. For all coughs and colds it is speedily effective. For sale by N. H. McCallum.

ATTENTION B. P. O. NO. 1137
On account of some unfinished business it is necessary that all members of B. P. O. No. 1137 meet regularly every Thursday night until further notice. A full attendance is desired.
Geo. Cotton, C. R.

Charles Barham Ledgers has succeeded in finding a positive cure for bed wetting. My little boy wet the bed every night clear 'till on the floor. I tried several kinds of kidney medicine and I was in the drug store looking for something different to help him when I heard of Foley's Kidney Pills. After he had taken them two days we could see a change and when he had taken two thirds of a bottle he was cured. That is about six weeks ago and he has not wet in bed since.

THIS LADY'S GOOD APPETITE

Mrs. Hansen, in a Letter From Mobile, Tells How She Gained It.

Mobile Ala.—"I suffered for seven years with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. Sigurd Hansen in a letter from this city. "I felt weak and always had a headache and was always going to the doctor. At last I was operated on, and felt better, but soon I had the same trouble. My husband asked me to try Cardui. I felt better after the first bottle, and now I have a good appetite and sleep well. I feel fine, and the doctor tells me I am looking better than he ever saw me."

If you are sick and miserable, and suffer from any of the pains due to womanly trouble—try Cardui. Cardui is successful because it is composed of ingredients that have been found to act curatively on the womanly constitution.

For more than fifty years it has been used by women of all ages with great success. Try it. Your druggist sells it.

Foley's Kidney Pills

Always give satisfaction because they always do the work. I feel satisfied and feel more relief from them than any other kind of kidney medicine, and I've used many of them. I can cheerfully recommend them to all sufferers for kidney and bladder troubles.
For sale by N. H. McCallum.

AN AGED ONE.

Two years had elapsed. Then the man who had promised upon his honor that he would send back the $2 just as soon as he could find a job returned.

The man at the desk looked up with a betraying enthusiasm.

"Well," he asked, "what do you want?"

"Why, I happened to be passing this way, and I thought I'd run in and see you. You're looking fine."

"Thanks. By the way, I never got the $2 you were going to return to me as soon as you found a job."

"Didn't you? Why, I sent it."

"That's just like the government. It's always letting important letters get lost. Did you register it?"

"I don't just remember now, I guess I didn't."

That was careless. You always ought to register letters in which you return borrowed money. Where did you send it from? Perhaps we can trace it, even if it wasn't registered."

"Why, I—let me see. I think it was from Cincinnati."

"Well, you hurry back to Cincinnati and start a tracer from that end and I'll see what I can do to have things stirred up here."

"Confound him!" said the borrower when he had reached the hall, "there's no use trying to be friendly with a man like that."

Mrs. Kildner—I wonder how Columbus made the egg stand on end?

Kildner—Easy. He shook it around until he had the chicken's feet in the big end of the egg, and then stood him on them.

Why He Sold Papers

A small news-boy's loud, gay call hailed a woman passing along the street of a western city, and as she paid a penny for one of his papers, she asked:

"What do you pay for your papers?"

"It's on Sandy Jim's beat," he replied, "and I pay a cent apiece."

"But if you don't make anything, why do you go about selling papers?"

"So I gets a chance," he answered, "to holler an' go 'round with th' push!"—Harper's

Who Has?

Miss Scribble—The heroine of my next story is to be one of those modern advanced girls who have ideas of their own and don't want to get married.

The Colonel (politely)—Ah, indeed, I don't think I ever met that type—Lila.

Suggesting Improvements

"Does your boy Josh take an interest in the farm?"

"He's beginnin' to," replied Mr. Cartmoss. "He's been showin' me where we could have some dandy golf links an' how easy it would be to turn the barn into a garage."

Including the Wedding Fee

Mrs. Chubb (with newspaper)—I see several persons are petitioning to have their names changed. What does it cost to have a name changed?

Mr. Chubb—It cost me a couple of hundred to have your name changed to mine.

All for Love

Mr. A—Nora seems quite gone on the postman.

Mrs. A—Gone! Do you know what that girl does? She mails herself a postcard every evening so as to make sure he'll call the next morning.

An Iconoclast

Passerby—What's the fuss in the school yard, boy?

The Boy—Why, the doctor has just been around examin'n' us an' one of the deficient boys is kickin' the everlastin' stuffin' out of a perfect kid.

Same Old Qualifications

"This," said the dealer, "is the best automobile you could buy, just the thing for a lady."

"Really?" remarked Miss Bright. "I suppose it's—er—kind and gentle and not afraid of trolley cars?"—Catholic Standard and Times

A Culinary Paradox

"Your cook is a contrary kind of creature."

"How so?"

"Because she is a rare cook, yet all her works are well done."

Harmony

Miss Dibbs prides herself on her accuracy.

I know she does. When her half sister died she went into half mourning.

CURRENT VERSE.

I Have Not Lived in Vain.

I have tried to lift the weight
From some discouraged heart—
I have tried to cheer and soothe—
And helped to bear a pain
I have checked the weeping tears,
And soothed the aching pain
And brought the smile of gladness back
I have not lived in vain.

If to an aged one I've been A comfort and a stay
And borne all childish weakness
With patience day by day
If I have led the feeble steps
To some green spot again
And brought a ray of sunshine there—
I have not lived in vain.

If I have shown an erring one
Some better place to live
And banished from anxiety
My sister's anxious sigh
If I have ever tried to help
Her wife away the aisle
And wiped a thought of grief within—
I have not lived in vain.

If when the children hear my voice,
They smile and sing
My coming steps to greet
If to all of God's dumb creatures
I have tried to be humane
And wrought some deeds of kindness there—
I have not lived in vain.

The Genealogy of Rings.

They've studied up the family tree of These rings
And proved that the diamond is straight
From divine and earthy things.
It has a brand new coat of arms as A mixture of minerals and patterns in a wreath.

They only mention relatives who fought
In the courage line Or rose to great distinction in the infantile line
But if they've searched enough I'll bet the fact that they're diamonds That somewhere in that family tree some body stole a horse.

These family trees don't allow tell us much as they should It wouldn't be a thing against themselves if they did
He's generations and he's kind and allies
You know how hard
He doesn't drink nor chew nor smoke
Not even cigarettes
But then it takes all kinds of folks to make a world you see.

There's a mighty wide assemblage in most every family tree Let's say admiring the shining an' the trimmings in the line
An' be content to overlook the clasp that holds a bone.

Beauty's Sadness

Brushed 'neath the midnight rapture over head
The young beauties facing north ward wind
Like old comely struts in lands of wine Opposite—night—the wharves, where any friend
Rises on the silent stage, are carpeted With silver shadow patterned by the flashing of anchored schooners. Wind low billow
In ending, and the plashing, near ended.

While night lasts of the life are all I hear
The spectral light-house against night's fair blue deep Those changing clouds the moon one star was had Spent a time in these warm winds in the deep
The heart this night, And I will bump to sleep
The sea alone has makes me always glad.

—Louis How in Flower '11

The Main Thing

She was a maid the men all wooed
I wish I had for her own
And was the other maid's second
A mystery was it
The woman who had held her fair,
Her form as graceful beauty
Her face in dress was something fierce
But on the floor she made

She couldn't for the life of her
Talk in a lively strain
Nor hold the power for one short hour
Her guests to entertain
She couldn't for the life of her
Talk in a lively strain
Nor hold the power for one short hour
Her guests to entertain

She couldn't for the life of her
Talk in a lively strain
Nor hold the power for one short hour
Her guests to entertain

Leaders of Men

When they are dead we heap the laurels high Above them where indifferent they lie
We join their deeds to uncounted praise
And crown with garlands of immortal fame
Whom living we but thought to envy

As mountains seem less glorious viewed too high
So often do the great whom we devoted Gigantic loom to our astonished gaze—
When they are dead

For shame by largeness of measure die
And partisan and narrow habits put by We shrine our heroes for the future days
And to stone our ignorant deities
With fard and emotion devotion try
When they are dead

—Florence Estlin Coates

The Rarest Time

Love will often come again,
Though the first be best Second childhood comes to men,
Though its robbers of zest
Opportunity comes back,
Only flitting gulls,
Through the centuries return
To open to the stars
History repeats itself
Rings again the chime
But the fairies fly come Once upon a time

—McLanburgh Willson

The Sting of Memory

If I had only thought when last we met
In life we two might never meet again
I would not now be suffering regret
That fills my heart and soul with bitter pains

For I had feared ere I had given you
To cruel words that did you pain
And with the gladness thought would now befall

In life we two might never meet again
I would not now be suffering regret
That fills my heart and soul with bitter
pains

ASSERTS FISH HAS MEMORY

Naval Exhibition With Trout Is Given by an Expert to Uphold
This Theory.

An expert in fish culture who believes that fish have memories gave a novel exhibition to support his theory.

In one of the enclosed pools at the battery under his charge there was a very large trout which always came forward to see and he again when visitors appeared. It was the expert's custom after calling particular attention to that trout to take him in and quickly and hold it over the water.
The performance would have no effect upon the trout.

Then the expert would produce a light trout rod and appear with it at the side of the pool. Instantly that trout would turn and see itself there at the far end of the enclosure and remain there so long as the rod was in sight.

This is the explanation of the audience change in the trout's demeanor.
One day, early in the career of the fish, the expert, to try a barbless hook he had devised cast with one in that pool and the trout seized it.
The hook penetrated and passed through its upper jaw, and by the time it was released from the hook it had undergone an experience that made a lasting impression upon it.

The expert discovered soon after the hooking of the trout that whenever he approached the pool with his rod the trout would instantly dash to a place of hiding although it paid no attention to a cane or other stick held over the water. The trout lived for years in that pool and never failed to show its fear of a trout rod as long as it lived.

MOB MILLER IS VERY HARDY

Man Finds One in Library Book That Apparently Had Been Closed
Many Years

"How long can a moth miller live without air and light?" is a question puzzling the bookworm.

I opened an old library book the other day," he said, "that had the appearance of having been closed for a century, and on the very first page I found a moth miller. He lay lifeless for a few minutes but pretty soon he began to wriggle. Now ordinarily moth millers are my chief aversion. I take a cruel delight in killing them, but I could not kill that moth miller.
I played the role of liberator. Instead his helplessness touched me, and I blew on him. He'd him with my finger and after awhile he was able to fly away.

"Now what I would like to know is how long had that insect been en-

Painless Dentistry

In the Sunday school teacher's experience the only kind of a dentist she had ever known was a man who pulled or repaired teeth as when the nice little girl in her class said her father was a dentist the teacher concluded to patronize him. She knew his address and called one day with nerves braced for treatment of an usual tooth. She was shown into a small workshop whose sides were lined with big grandfather clocks.

"Dentist!" the man exclaimed.
Great Heavens! In a clock mender but I know how the kid came to make the mistake. People in this trade always call the fellow who makes a specialty of tinkering with grandfather clocks a dentist. The wheels of most grandfather clocks of American manufacture are made of wood and when the clock stops the wornout teeth have to be removed from the wheel and new teeth put in. So I really do work with teeth and deserve the name of dentist!"

Saw No Future for Pittsburgh.

"Pittsburgh" of the ninth edition of the "Encyclopaedia Britannica" has quietly become "Pittsburg" in the twelfth. The former, to which America has now officially reverted is the original spelling. When General Forbes captured Fort Duquesne in 1764, he renamed it Pittsburgh in honor of the great English conqueror of victory. In 1784 Arthur Lee described the place in language which seems strange to those who know the smoky city of today. Pittsburgh is inhabited almost entirely by Scots and Irish who live in filthy log houses. There are in the town four attorneys, two doctors and not a priest of any persuasion nor clerk or chaplain so that they are likely to be damned without the help of clergy. The place, I believe will never be very comfortable.

BLUNTS TRUE BLUE

Steel Middlebrakers

FARMERS:

This is the greatest plow you have ever had the chance to buy in this section. We have sold them three years in Houston County and can refer you to some of the best farmers in the country who have bought and used these plows with perfect satisfaction. They will tell you these plows are just what we claim they are and worth more than the price you pay. This plow is made of the best quality of steel and is not a chill plow. It is lighter and stronger than a chill plow and will do work that no chill plow will do.

Mr. Will Floyd, at Webb, made a test and one steel point on the little Dixie Bell turner plow lasted long as four points on other plows in the same ground. Mr. Tom Trawick, west of Dothan, in stiff land and stumps, says two mules and his Steel Middlebraker did more and better work than any plow he ever used.

Mr. M. Hicks, near Abbeville Junction, says: "I thought the price was high but you can tell anybody they are worth twice the money."

These are just a few of the many expressions we get from satisfied customers who have bought and used the True Blue line of Steel plows.

Now notice, we have the exclusive selling territory for these plows in Houston, part of Dale, Henry and west Florida and keep a good stock and all repairs at Dothan. In order to get these plows introduced into a new territory, we will ship any responsible farmer one True Blue Middlebraker and one 1-horse steel turner on ten days trial, with the understanding that if the plows do not give perfect satisfaction after a fair trial, they can be returned at our expense.

If you want to take advantage of this offer, write us at once for prices and terms, as it will be open for a short time only.

NOT IN THE RUNNING

Changes in the primary law made it possible for almost anybody who so desired to run for office in San Francisco at the recent primary election. All that was required was a certain number of signatures to a petition. The consequence was a very large number of aspiring politicians had their names put on the ballot for the office of supervisor.

A friend met Tim McGrath, locally famous as the man who brought out Tom Sharkey and asked:

"Tim, are you running for supervisor?"

No, Tim replied. I'm the one that ain't — Saturday Evening Post.

Making Store Friends

January is usually a dull month, considered, a between the season month, but thanks to the keenness of our clientele we have been able to make a usually dull month the biggest trading month in the history of our establishment. Any contingent hard feelings or misunderstandings caused by the stringent rush of such crowds as we have had—we can only say, be charitable enough to believe in our opinion any rule you thought too severe was absolutely necessary under the conditions.

This is one store you can depend on its meaning every thing it says. Its heart is right and its rules are made to apply to every body alike. We give you credit for the strong places in our store, and ask you to overlook the weak ones. We promise in time to remove each weak link.

A MASTER HYPNOTIST

COMING TO DOTHAN

We are pleased to announce the coming of Prof. Henselbeck who is rated as the greatest mind reader and Hypnotist now before the American public. He has played many of our neighboring towns and has created the greatest wonder and excitement by the strange power he undoubtedly possesses. The press and the public all speak in the highest terms of his entertainment.

It will be remembered by many of our people that the Professor played here about two years ago and his crowds were so great each night that many were turned away. He is the only hypnotist playing this city who ever gave entire satisfaction and those who witnessed his exhibitions at that time will be sure to go again when he returns. Prof. Henselbeck will be at the court house, Monday night, January 21, and two ladies of our city and one gentleman will be admitted on each paid 25 cent ticket if at the court house before 8 P. M.

CARD OF THANKS

In all our friends and neighbors we wish to express our heart felt thanks for their many expressions of kindness toward us during the recent illness of members of our family. And to the physician we especially desire to express our appreciation for his untiring efforts on our behalf.
